

HOT TOPICS WIESBADEN

This is a busy time for all of us at USAG Wiesbaden and we know getting you clear, concise, timely and accurate information is more important now than ever. This internal command information product, compiled by the USAG Wiesbaden Public Affairs Office, will be sent to you via email bi-weekly to ensure you're up-to-date on important information that impacts your duties, our community and our Army.

2022 Volume 11 (June 17)

Welcome to another edition of Hot Topics.

I hope this finds each of you enjoying this wonderful sunshine and heat we're experiencing here lately. With extreme heat, comes heat safety: ensure you are staying hydrated and have strategies to stay cool as the temperatures continue to climb over the coming weeks.

These last few weeks, it was great to see the support across our workforce in celebrating Army Heritage Month on Hainerberg and the Army's 247th birthday here on Clay Kaserne. It's always important to recognize the strength of our Army, the diversity of the work we do across all our different specialties, and our mission to defend America and its allies, 24/7.

Next week I'll be participating in the Garrison's Quarterly Housing town hall -- providing updates to our workforce and community on various housing and garrison topics of interest. Make sure to reach out to Public Affairs over the next week with any topics, questions or concerns you'd like discussed.

Inside this issue, you'll find a variety of information, events and newsletters to keep you up-to-date. This edition includes IMCOM-Europe, MWR and European Public Health newsletters, various service updates, information about the Federal Employee Viewpoint Survey, and other updates.

As we move through June and into July, there are a number of great events the garrison is championing across our community. We've got Organizational Day right around the corner on June 24th, as well as the upcoming German-American Friendship Fest -- returning for a 5-day celebration on Lower Hainerberg, June 30 through July 4.

This weekend, we celebrate Juneteenth, a day dedicated to celebrating the justice and freedom that was gained for all Black Americans, as the end of slavery took hold following the Civil War. An important note in that history -- the Army played a fundamental role in advancing the freedoms of 250,000 Black slaves in the resisting state of Texas, when Major General Gordon Granger arrived in Galveston with 1,800 men, commanding and enforcing the end of slavery, two years after President Lincoln legally freed slaves throughout Confederate States on Jan. 1, 1863.

Thank you to everyone for your continued hard work and what you do for the U.S. Army and USAG Wiesbaden -- Our Home in Germany.

Until next time.
